

Bellehellen Will Have Mill On Conforth Group With Capacity of 50 Tons Daily

The Bellehellen Mines Company is next in line for the production of a steady tonnage, which will reach a daily output of 25 tons before the first of August. The company is in excellent shape to take advantage of the enhancement of silver by building at the mouth of the mine a mill with a daily capacity of 50 tons. The value of the ore runs from $40 to $65 and in one section of the mine the ore averages regularly $130 a ton. Owing to the high cost of transportation which absorbs $13 per ton the company has been elaborating plans for mill construction, as the management feels that it is wasteful to send out any more ore by wagon.

While the mill is under construction three auto trucks will be placed in commission in order to take care of the allotted tonnage. By the first of September the mill will be under way.

All work is done under the direction of Thomas T. Cornforth of Denver, who has been active in the development ever since the inception of the enterprise eleven years ago. The estate comprises five claims and a fraction and besides the ore mentioned as of shipping grade, the mine has an enormous quantity of milling ore worth from $17 to $30. One peculiarity of the formation is that the eastern end of the mine carries silver values while in the western end the showing is in gold. One shaft is down 234 feet from the surface to the tunnel level, which has crosscut the property for a distance of 600 feet with a drift of 650 feet on the vein. The shaft is all in ore for the full depth, showing a vein for a width of two feet carrying values of $50 a ton. At a distance of 230 feet west of the main shaft is another which has been sent down to a depth of 230 feet with the expectation of catching the west vein in another 25 feet. Mr. Schleff, from Cripple Creek, has been engaged as mine superintendent and will arrive in a few days.

The falling officers were installed in their respective chairs: Lindon D. Warner, N. S.; Thomas M. Pearce, V. G.; Louis D. Morris, secretary; Andre Milovich, treasurer; W. H. Thomson, R. S. N. G.; Sampson Finley, L. S. N. G.; G. F. Laws, R. S. V. G.; C. F. Geyer, L. S. V. G.; John Curry, chaplain; Lewis S. Ross, I. G.; Wm. A. Rogers, warden; John Dunsdon, conductor.

Bro. James Currie, D. D. grand master, presented the retiring noble grand with a past grand collar in a few well chosen remarks and Bro. J. A. Peterson responded with eloquent fervor.

After the installation ceremonies all repaired to the banquet rooms where a delicious lunch was served by the sister Rebekah lodge. Several of the sisters and brothers spoke.

A MIRAGE IN THE CLOUDS.

The Specter That Gave an Aviator the Scare of His Life.

An extraordinary story of a mirage in the clouds is told by a young flying corps officer in the British service:

"I had often wondered what it would feel like to see a machine coming straight for one and to know that a collision was inevitable. I had the experience one afternoon, only the collision did not take place. I was on patrol with five other machines over the lines and had just gone into a cloud bank. Just before going in I saw the bus on my right turning to cross in front of me. All of a sudden I saw a machine just the same as my own appear out of the cloud about fifty feet away, making straight for me. Instantly I jammed my nose down and went as near a nose dive as possible. The other bus did the same. I turned! The other turned into me. I was in a cold perspiration all over by this time, so I thought, 'Here goes; if I am going to crash it might as well be complete.' So straight for it I went. We got closer and closer, and, blif, my machine and—its mirage in the clouds met!"

"It seemed like a hideous nightmare, and I can still see that machine doing its utmost to crash into me. I think I can say I have had the full horrors of a collision in the air without its actual taking place."—London Telegraph.

INDIA'S ARMY ELEPHANTS.

Their Skill in Moving Big Guns That Have Become Stalled.

In India elephants are used in many ways in the army, especially in moving artillery. Of their work in this line a British writer says:

"When a gun comes to grief the elephant marches up with the important air of an experienced engineer and deliberately inspects the state of affairs. Throwing his trunk around the spoke of a wheel, he gives it a lift as if to ascertain the depth and tenacity of the mud and then quietly walks around and does the same by the other wheel, dropping it again with a funny twinkle of the eye as if he said to himself, 'All right; I can start her, I think.'"

"Then he deliberates for a few minutes, gives a slight push here and a slight push there, when, having at last made up his mind as to the best mode of procedure, he probably applies his forehead—which has been padded for the purpose—to the muzzle of the gun and, uttering a shrill, trumpet-like sound as a signal for the gun bullocks to pull together, pushes against it with all his weight, while the bullocks obey the signal and pull away too."

"This generally starts the gun. But if the bullocks are sulky and refuse to obey the signal the elephant gets perfectly furious and rushes at them, brandishing his trunk with such ferocity as usually compels obedience."

There are over 500 in the home, which is located 40 miles from Chicago, and easily accessible from all parts of the country.

Early American Theatricals. The earliest attempt to introduce theatrical performances in this country was made about 1680 in New England, but Increase Mather wrote and spoke so forcibly in opposition to the project that it was speedily abandoned. The first theatrical performance in New York city of which there is any clear record was given March 5, 1750. The theater was on Nassau street, between John street and Maiden lane, and the play was "Richard III." Thomas Kean, the junior manager of the company, enacting the part of Richard—New York World.

AMUSEMENTS

THE BUTLER

Henry B. Walthall proves himself probably the most versatile actor on the screen in his current Essanay feature, "The Saint's Adventure." He appears in four separate and distinct roles, viz.: a school boy, the young rector of an ultra-fashionable church, a woodsman, and then a denizen of slums district of a big city. The costuming, or make-up of these four roles of course are easy to perfect; however, the personality which Mr. Walthall has thrown into each characterization, the vivacity of the youth; the sanctimony of the parson; the rugged nature of the woodsman and the crushed and beaten attitude of the poverty-stricken man, ably demonstrates the marvelous talent which has made him the foremost emotional actor in motion pictures. Mary Charleson is seen as Henry B. Walthall's leading woman in the great actor's current feature. Matinee 1:30, evening 7:15 and 8:45. Tomorrow, June Caprice and a two-reel Fox comedy, Pathe Weekly will show new war news.
